Living room lighting Option 4

Total Cost: $1,280.91

UPDATE*** I added new light fixtures based on your notes! I explored some similar gold chandeliers as in your inspo but went back to the black fixtures in this space since they felt a bit more sophisticated and went back to the scones you are really enjoying!

For the fireplace, I explored several mantel options and ultimately felt that a sleek, streamlined look works best with this stone. To balance it, I added six floating shelves (48" L x 12" D), giving you plenty of space for décor and family photos.

If you'd still like the feel of a mantel, we could frame a ledge directly into the stone so it appears seamless while still providing that functional ledge. ***

For this final option, I wanted to explore a moodier direction that still feels very current and sophisticated. It brings in some of the darker elements we discussed, such as walnut shelves inspired by your reference images, a deeper ceiling stain, and a medium-toned floor.

The fireplace features a fluted black marble tile, which ties in beautifully with Kitchen Option 2. It introduces a sleek, modern edge while still incorporating the warmer, darker tones you've been drawn to during our conversations.

This design balances drama with modern refinement and could be a striking alternative to the lighter, more neutral option!

Pantry/Coffee Bar

Total Cost: $4,763.83

I've added a pantry cabinet idea along the breakfast nook wall (left side when entering from foyer) to increase storage and functionality. We can either create a small breakfast/coffee bar in the center OR a built-in desk by removing the center lower cabinetry and adding a floating desk with a compact chair between the tall pantry cabinets.

Alternatively, we can run tall pantry cabinets across the full wall for maximum storage. I recommend using 12"-deep cabinets to maintain good circulation while still providing meaningful additional storage—an ideal solution given your concerns about cabinet space.

I will also recommend a smaller round dining table. With three household members, two barstool seats, and a nearby formal dining room, a smaller footprint will keep the space open and functional for everyday use.

Wake up the ceiling and let the light dance in traditional or modern settings! In farmhouse style, black metal with real wood, combining seedy glass and rustic charm, this 1-light wood pendant light for kitchen island by UOLFIN complements a myriad of styles from the modern farmhouse and country lodge to classic mid-century and transitional cottage. The glass shade is embellished with seeded design completing the farmhouse style, creating a raindrop-like appearance and a unique pattern with the light on. Compared with a typical chandelier or island light, the pendant light has a uniquely endowed feature: flexibility in DIY. It has almost no limits in the ways of installation. Hanging a set of these pendant lights in line over the kitchen island or long dining table (the amount can be controlled depending on the customer's need), or being clustered to hang over the small round table (ideal size is around 32 inches), both are brilliant at illuminating and provide an amazing modern appeal to refresh your dining room.

Kitchen 2

Total Cost: $9,093.53

Original wood floor option!

This version was inspired directly by your design references!

I incorporated black lower cabinets paired with a lighter gray Calacatta-look porcelain slab countertop. This option provides the same sophisticated, timeless aesthetic as natural stone but at a more approachable price point. I also continued the slab up the wall to create a seamless, modern backdrop that feels both elegant and on-trend.

To enhance the clean lines, I integrated the refrigerator into the cabinetry so the entire kitchen feels more streamlined and cohesive.

For this design, a white oak floor would be advantageous as a contrast to the black cabinetry and keep things feeling light and airy. If the flooring expert can't match your exact wood floor in this area, I have a great tile idea for the space that I'd be happy to share now. Alternatively, we can wait to cross that bridge if we arrive at it, keeping things simple.

*Please note there will be 2 lights over the peninsula, but this vantage point only shows 1!**

I added another wallpaper option, this one I LOVE!

I also included two mirror options below for comparison. One is an LED mirror; however, it does have a visible line detail that I find slightly less refined visually. The other option is the medicine cabinet mirror we're using in the other bathrooms, which creates consistency throughout the home while still feeling elevated.

I added the glass shelving as well!

Hall Bath Option 3 Black Hardware

Total Cost: $4,493.80

UPDATE:

- All black hardware aside from sink
- LED Mirror
- I suggest we put a Niche on the right wall of the tub!

Here is a option with a lighter tile very similar to one of your inspiration photos provided! I updated the shower door, and ensure the jets are visible in the rendering. I still like the gold but am happy to provide a black hardware option if you would like to see!

For your bathroom, I continued the modern moody theme you've selected so far to create a cohesive aesthetic throughout the home, while thoughtfully incorporating several of the beautiful elements from your inspiration folder.

I selected a frameless sliding shower door with a sleek, modern profile to keep the lines clean and elegant. We're pairing this with a tankless smart toilet bidet and a jetted tub as well as a similar shower fixture, blending comfort and functionality. To strike the perfect balance between light and drama, I incorporated gold finishes, as you suggested, to keep the space bright and airy, while using a moody statement tile to carry that sophisticated, elevated feel from the front of the house all the way through the back. I did select a light marble floor tile to keep the space feeling airy.

For the primary bathroom, my vision is to shift toward a lighter tile palette paired with a black vanity, maintaining the overall theme but introducing a serene, calming atmosphere, very much in line with the mood you selected in your design quiz.

Stay tuned!
